FAIRMONT STATE UNIVERSITY™

Student Government Association

An Open Letter to the Fairmont State University Board of Governors

Members of the Fairmont State University Board of Governors,

It is our understanding after a goal-reaching and record setting academic year at Fairmont State University, the Board of Governors may be taking the temperature of interested parties around the University regarding the accomplishments and new direction the Administration is taking. This new direction, a disruption of the status quo of the last fifteen years, was precipitated by the Board and taken into consideration when a new President was selected a year and a half ago. We, the undersigned, appreciate the vision of the Board and are encouraged by the determination and tenacity of the Administration to develop that vision. We support and endorse the University, its goals, and its benchmark accomplishments to date; we, too, ask the Board to reaffirm its support and endorsement of the Administration, led by President Mirta M. Martin.

Beginning in January 2018, the University has been in a constant state of positive change fueled by the enthusiasm and leadership of the new Administration. The foremost example can be seen in the University's finances. In just twelve months, the University has accomplished a $4.774 million net change from a $2.86 million deficit to a $1.914 million positive. For an institution that has a direct economic impact to the state of West Virginia of $50.87 million and an indirect impact of $82.9 million—the most of any regional institution in the state—it was vitally important the University chart a path to financial stability. Accomplishing this so rapidly and dramatically is only a testament to the determination for success at Fairmont State University. While so many universities around the state are facing hardships and grapple with the real threat of having to close their doors, Fairmont State is charging forward stronger than ever.

This past regular legislative session, Fairmont State University stared down several legislative initiatives that had the potential to harm the financial viability of the University. In a time when higher education is all too often the first sent to the state funding chopping block, Fairmont State stood tall in the face of adversity. The Falcon Family used its relationships in Charleston to secure a funding increase of $3 million—the first time in eight years the University didn't receive a funding cut.

Like so many other areas, Fairmont State is soaring onward and upward regarding enrollment and retention. The past academic year saw an increase in enrollment for the first time since 2010. Our Falcon Family welcomed the largest incoming class—855—the University has ever seen, a 10% increase of incoming students. Over the previous seven years, an annual decline plagued the enrollment numbers at Fairmont State, totaling an 18.9% decrease, per enrollment data from West Virginia Higher Education Policy Commission. This past fall's transformational freshman class translated into a 2% overall population growth. Additionally, residence halls on campus were at full capacity, and Fairmont State saw an increased retention rate for first-time freshman, transfer students, and readmitted students. The 2018-19 year was the first Fairmont State retention rate increase since 2015.

While Fairmont State continues to focus on issues pertinent to financial stability and student success, the Board, administration, faculty, and staff are also focused on continuing to provide a quality, affordable education. Fairmont State is focused on keeping West Virginia's talent in West Virginia. The University has met with local, regional and state-wide business leaders to partner in finding solutions to growing economic problems in West Virginia. It is committed to growing industry in West Virginia by educating the next generation of West Virginia's workforce. With this commitment in mind, Fairmont State is determined to maintain and improve the academic quality of existing programs whilst creating new programs to accommodate the arising needs in our state's students.

Fairmont State has recently added or is in the process of adding programs in the following areas of study:

- Masters of Science in Healthcare Management
- Bachelors of Science in Strategic Leadership
- Masters of Arts in National Security and Intelligence
- Masters of Science in Engineering and Management
- Graduate Certificate in Educational Leadership
- Masters of Business Administration Area of Emphasis in Cybersecurity Management

Alongside these accomplishments, all since January 2018, Falcons continue to return immense resources and provided care and comfort to many in the community. In last year's United Way Campaign in Marion County, Fairmont State raised a record $31,525—the largest contribution from the University in its 39 years with United Way. And, during the federal government shutdown this past winter, Fairmont State and the Falcon Family opened its home to over 500 federal employees for entertainment and free family meals over two days.

It is the Student Government Association's primary purpose to give the perspective and position of the student body. As a result of the aforementioned achievements, countless personal anecdotes, and student-centered success at this University with this administration, it is with great confidence that we, along with the undersigned members of the West Virginia Legislature, faculty and staff of the University, and members of the community, endorse the new direction set forth by the Board and the actions and accomplishments undertaken on this campus under the leadership of President Mirta Martin and her Administration.

Thank you.
